The Colonel gives a brief update on our race data collection. Our Fair and Impartial Policing committee met last week at the Vermont Law School. Jack McDevitt an expert from Northeastern University gave a presentation on race data collection. He completed our last report four years ago and will be submitting a new report sometime in March. All of our motor vehicle stop data has been updated and is on our new website. You can find it on our home page in the bottom right hand corner. This is one of Vermont State Police's top priorities.
